Fundraising FAQ's

We want everyone to have the opportunity to experience Family Forever. Creating a personalized fundraising page is an easy way to invite friends, family, and your community to help offset the cost of registration, accommodations, and travel to Columbus. Use the FAQs below to help you get started and make the most of your fundraising efforts!

How do I create my Family Forever fundraising page?

Your personalized fundraising page is a place to share your story and invite your community to be part of your Family Forever journey. Visit bestbuddies.org/fundraise, select the Family Forever Conference registration type, add a photo, share why attending is meaningful to you and your family, set your goal, and share your page with the people in your life.

How much should I set as my fundraising goal?

Every family's journey to Columbus will look a little different. When setting your goal, consider the $249 conference registration fee, 1–2-night hotel accommodations, and your anticipated airfare, mileage, or other travel expenses. You can choose to raise all or just a portion of these costs. Set a goal that feels right for your family.

How can I get others involved in my fundraising?

Start with your people! Share your page with friends, family, coworkers, neighbors, and others who want to support your family. A personal text, email, or social media post explaining why Family Forever matters to you can go a long way. Keep your community updated as you get closer to your goal, and don't be afraid to share your page more than once.

What happens if I don't reach my goal?

Every gift makes a difference. Your fundraising goal is simply something to work toward, and you do not need to reach it for the funds you've raised to help offset your Family Forever expenses.

What if I raise more than I need to attend?

Your impact can extend beyond your own Family Forever experience! Funds raised beyond your individual conference expenses will support Best Buddies Family Support, helping us create more opportunities for families to find resources, build connections, and know they have a community beside them for the journey ahead.
